Quality Healthcare Scholarship Recipients

NL Health Services

$6,500 scholarship for eligible graduate students

Recipient

Carlee Rayne Seiler

Field of Study

Carlee Rayne Seiler is a Master of Health Ethics candidate at Memorial University. Carlee's research will be completing research on moral and ethical obligations to the Two-Spirit, transgender, non-binary, and gender-diverse community. Carlee is hoping to address the moral status of concerns such as the definition of medically necessary gender-affirming care, as well as the moral status of challenges of access to education, resources, and care for this community as it is comprised in part by youth distinctly below the age of medical consent.

Julie Dwyer

Julie Dwyer is a PhD Candidate at Memorial University. Julie is writing to underscore the importance of addressing chronic pain within the framework of quality processing in Newfoundland & Labrador health systems and to emphasize its profound implications for ethical standards, disclosure practices, and patient safety.

Total of $53,750
